Who Should Attend?

Anyone who has, or aspires to, a leadership role in an early care and education facility would benefit from attending the Directors' Symposium. Directors, assistant directors, lead teachers, coaches and owners are the primary audience.

Feature Presentations:

Building the Blocks of Y.O.U.

We all know the importance of helping kids build a strong foundation for healthy development but sometimes we forget to check in on our own foundation. Today's session will be a fun, engaging session where we will look at your building blocks in a creative, playful way. See how you can refresh and even rebuild your blocks in a way that supports all that you do!

Got Joy?

This session is based on the Finnish saying: "Those things you learn without joy, you will forget easily". See how you can set the environment in a way that brings joyful ownership of discoveries and connections into your center. Children need you to take a stand! Got joy? Your answer will be "YES" after this inspiring and thought-provoking experience.

Leading for Success

Do you want more employees who shine in your classrooms? Setting and communicating expectations and holding employees accountable helps you build a workforce that you can count on. This session will share useful strategies that you can put into action.
