February 25

Reclaim Your Power: How Choices Build Self-Control & Self-Esteem

Use the power of free will to set limits, promote healthy behaviors and strengthen compliance within children. Find out how to support children in learning how to achieve personal responsibility and self-control.

March 25

From Chaos to Calm: Turning Resistance into Cooperation

Cooperation is achieved through relationship and connection. When we are committed to seeing the best in children, instead of assuming that they are "bad" or trying to make our lives difficult, we shift our thinking and help them learn missing skills.

April 22

If I Could Only Find the Right Consequence: Secrets and Myths about Effective Consequences

The skill of empathy is needed to teach children how to cope with disappointment and minimize whining, foot stomping and back talk. Learn how to access our empathy, strengthen empathy in our children and help them build a strong internal compass.

In-person attendees may receive 1.5 Missouri Clock Hours Child Care Licensing credit for each session.*
